

XVII CONGRESSVS INTERNATIONALIS EPIGRAPHIÆ GRÆCÆ ET LATINÆ

BONONIÆ MMXXVII | 30th August– 4th September 2027

Panel 01: TITVLI NOVI GRAECI

Chairs: Fatih Onur, Sebastian Prignitz

Ongoing excavations, field surveys, the systematic study of museum collections, and occasional chance discoveries outside formal archaeological contexts continue to bring to light new inscriptions. Against this background, the session TITVLI NOVI GRAECI is dedicated to the presentation and analysis of previously unpublished Greek inscriptions, as well as newly reconstructed texts from old and / or new fragments. Thus, it will provide a forum for the introduction of new texts into scholarly discussion and for the establishment of their content and interpretation.

Contributions should deal with inscriptions not yet published (or not yet reconstructed in the way they are now) in any form. Fragmentary texts with substantial preserved lettering are welcome. Reassessment of known material is admissible where it leads to the identification of an effectively new inscriptional text. Papers may address epigraphic, linguistic, and contextual aspects arising directly from the unpublished material. Methodological considerations are welcome insofar as they serve the analysis of new inscriptions.

By concentrating on unpublished material, the session underscores the fundamental role of tituli novi in the advancement of Greek epigraphy and promotes rigorous standards of documentation, analysis, and publication.
