

Co-funded by
the European Union

TRANSPARENCY, CIVIL SOCIETY AND INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC LAW THE APPROACH OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

Monday 24 October 2022 10:30 - 17:00 CET Time

Sala Feste, Palazzo Malvezzi, Via Zamboni 22, Bologna

PROGRAM

h. 10.30 - 13:00

Welcome Greetings: Federico Casolari, Depute Head of the Department of Legal Studies
Università di Bologna

Daniele Senzani, Director of Second Cycle Degree in Legal Studies
Università di Bologna

Introduction: Elisa Baroncini, Coordinator of the Re-Globe Jean Monnet Module and Co-Chair of SIDI DIEcon
Università di Bologna

Session One: The Multilateral Scenario

Chair: Mauro Gatti (Università di Bologna)

Transparency in Treaty-Making

Maria Laura Marceddu (European University Institute)

Transparency as a Tool for Private Interests' Protection in Economic Dispute Settlement Systems

Gianpaolo Maria Ruotolo (Università di Foggia)

The SPS/TBT Transparency Framework: ePing as a Stakeholders Support in the Evolving Regulatory Landscape

Serra Ayrat (WTO Secretariat)

Transparency in Trade Agreements: The Discipline on Subsidies and SOEs

Luca Rubini (Università di Torino)

h.13:00-Lunch

h.14h30-17h

Session Two: The EU Approach

Chair: Gian Maria Farnelli (Università di Bologna)

The Approach of the European Commission on Transparency in the EU Trade Policy

Ignacio Garcia Bercero (European Commission)

The Increasing Role of Civil Society and Transparency in Investment Treaty Negotiations

Kilian Wagner (University of Vienna)

Civil Society and Transparency in EUFTAs Dispute Settlement Mechanisms

Marina Trunk Fedorova (University of Kiel)

Enforcing EUFTAs and Sustainability Issues through Civil Society: from TBR to SEP

Elisa Baroncini (Università di Bologna)

Concluding Remarks

Co-funded by
the European Union

TRANSPARENCY, CIVIL SOCIETY AND INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC LAW THE APPROACH OF THE EUROPEAN UNION

Monday 24 October 2022 10:30 - 17:00 CET Time

Sala Feste, Palazzo Malvezzi, Via Zamboni 22, Bologna

PRESENTATION

Transparency and participatory mechanisms are prerequisites of the Rule of Law in a free and democratic society. In International Economic Law (IEL), providing for mechanisms that enables stakeholders and civil society to be fully informed and take part in the negotiations, in the drafting and in the execution of International Trade and Investment Agreements - that ultimately will affect their standards of living - are paramount. After all, without transparency, there is no accountability, and without accountability, good governance cannot be achieved.

By 2015 the concern with transparency and participatory mechanisms to safeguard the International Rule of Law has been formally recognized by the United Nations setting it out among the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) for 2030. In Goal 16, it is expressly mentioned the commitment to develop effective, accountable, and transparent institutions and ensure responsive, inclusive, participatory, and representative decision-making with the aim to promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable, and inclusive institutions at all levels.

The event on "Transparency, Civil Society and International Economic Law - The Approach of the European Union" is devoted to present and analyze the state of the art of participatory mechanisms within international negotiations, institutions, and fora. Presentations will focus on the WTO system, the arbitration investment mechanisms pursuant to the ICSID and UNCITRAL rules, the role of civil society in the new generation of free trade agreements, transparency in multilateral and regional dispute settlement mechanisms, constantly considering the approach of the European Union. In fact, the EU, in its 2021 trade policy review, has reaffirmed its firm commitment to promote and pursue reform processes in International Economic Law as a necessary element to implement the SDGs of the 2030 Agenda, strengthening its status of major international actor for the respect and promotion of the principle of transparency and the involvement of civil society when shaping, implementing and enforcing IEL tools.

The event is organized within the activities of the Jean Monnet Module Re-Globe (Reforming the Global Economic Governance: The EU for SDGs in International Economic Law) together with DIEcon, the Interest Group on International Economic Law of the Italian Society of International Law (SIDI) and supported by the Department of Legal Studies of the University of Bologna. The event is also an academic activity of the 2nd Cycle Degree in Legal Studies at the University of Bologna (1 credit Seminar).

ALMA MATER STUDIORUM
UNIVERSITÀ DI BOLOGNA
DIPARTIMENTO DI SCIENZE GIURIDICHE

Attendance is free but requires previous registration.

For registration please write to Ms. Klarissa Martins (email: klarissa.martins2@unibo.it)