

Information on Personal Data Processing

You are invited to participate in a research study entitled “Observatory on the Time Use of Young Families”, focusing on gender inequalities in time use and its determinants. This study is conducted by the Department of Economic Sciences at Alma Mater Studiorum – University of Bologna, in collaboration with the University of Naples Federico II and the GRINS Foundation, as part of the “GRINS – Growing Resilient, Inclusive and Sustainable” project. The GRINS Foundation, as the implementing entity, carries out the project, funded by the NRRP, within the spectrum of economic, political, social, and data sciences. Its aim is to provide evidence to guide public policies as well as the decisions of citizens and companies in complex decision-making contexts, contributing to a more resilient, inclusive, and sustainable growth for the country.

This information notice has been prepared in accordance with Articles 13 and 14 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679, “on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data” (hereinafter, “GDPR”), and Legislative Decree 196/2003, as amended by Legislative Decree 101/2018.

Data Processor

IPSOS S.R.L. for identifying volunteer participants to involve in the research, as well as for creating and maintaining the web app used to administer the questionnaires.

PERSONAL DATA SUBJECT TO PROCESSING

Your personal data to be processed include the following:

- Regarding purpose (A1) outlined below: contact information.
- Regarding other purposes: identifying data (name and surname), contact information (phone number and email address), IP address, sexual orientation, data related to the list of activities performed over two days (one during the weekend and one on a weekday) and the time dedicated to them, occupation, individual and family income class, age, gender, number, date of birth, and gender of children, information about family composition, daily life organization within the family, attitudes and preferences regarding the roles of women/mothers and men/fathers, information on the use of maternity and paternity leave, attitudes toward stereotypes about men/women, attitudes toward hypothetical situations of couple disputes, and pseudonymization code.

No special categories of data (or “sensitive data”) will be collected directly. However, responses provided to some questions might indirectly reveal information about your sexual orientation. It should be noted, however, that under no circumstances will the data be processed by authorized personnel (e.g., scientific director and other researchers) with the purpose of identifying your sexual orientation.

The responses provided by each participant may be linked, based on their tax code, with INPS administrative data related to the participant and their labor market information.

PURPOSES OF DATA PROCESSING

Your personal data will be processed for the following purposes:

(A1) IDENTIFICATION AND RECRUITMENT OF PARTICIPANTS FOR SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH

The joint controllers, Unibo and Unina, through a polling institute specifically appointed and designated as the data processor, will identify individuals to invite to participate in the research using software that randomly generates phone numbers. The institute will then call the generated phone numbers and, during the call, invite the contacted person to participate in the research. Participation is voluntary, and if the contacted person declines to participate, their phone number will be immediately and permanently deleted.

If the contacted person agrees to participate in the research, their data will be processed for the purpose of research participation. For more information on this, please refer to the following section.

(A2) PARTICIPATION IN SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH AND POPULATION OF THE AMELIA PLATFORM WITHIN THE “GRINS – GROWING RESILIENT, INCLUSIVE AND SUSTAINABLE” PROJECT

If you consent to participate in this research, your personal data will be collected by Unibo and Unina, through the polling institute responsible for data processing, by completing two diaries listing the activities you performed over two days (one weekday and one weekend day) and a socio-economic questionnaire.

During the research activities, participants' personal data will be processed for:

- (i) registering participants on the web platform for questionnaire completion, collecting data entered into the questionnaires, and other activities related to the platform's technical operation and maintenance;
- (ii) providing participants with necessary instructions for participating in the research via SMS and email communications;

(iii) offering participants the requested assistance online/via phone/SMS, through the polling institute.

Identifying data will be replaced with a code during the project activities.

It is also noted that this research is conducted within the context of a broader research project carried out by an "extended partnership" consisting of multiple universities and partner entities, including Alma Mater Studiorum – University of Bologna. The project, named "GRINS" ("Growing Resilient, Inclusive, Sustainable," hereinafter referred to as the "GRINS Project"), is funded by the NRRP, Mission 4 (Infrastructure and Research), Component 2 (From Research to Business), Investment 1.3 (Extended Partnerships).

Specifically, the data will be processed to contribute to the development of an online data platform called AMELIA ("dAta platforM for the transfEr of knowLedge and statistical Analysis"), managed by the GRINS Foundation as the implementing body of the GRINS Project and not freely accessible to third parties. AMELIA will provide access to high-quality, strictly non-identifiable data and data analysis tools for a wide range of uses by public administrations, businesses, and families, consistent with the NRRP's objectives of promoting resilient, inclusive, and sustainable growth. Specifically, the collected data will be processed to create aggregated indicators and reports that will help populate the AMELIA platform. For more information about the GRINS Project, please visit the official website at <https://grins.it/progetto/piattaforma-amelia>.

Data uploaded to the AMELIA platform will be retained in an identifiable form, if useful for the project, for the periods specified under the subsequent purposes (B) and (C). Personal data not needed for the aforementioned purposes (B) and (C) will be deleted at the end of the GRINS Project, currently scheduled for December 31, 2025 (unless extended).

In any case, research-related data will only be disseminated in a strictly anonymous and aggregated form, such as through scientific publications, statistics, and scientific conferences.

(B) ENHANCEMENT OF RESEARCH RESULTS INCORPORATED INTO THE AMELIA PLATFORM

At the conclusion of the GRINS project, as one of its objectives, the Joint Controllers intend to manage and enhance the informational assets of the AMELIA platform, consisting of the research results from the GRINS project and all related data. This will be done with the aim of sharing these resources with platform users for further scientific research purposes or other public interest activities. Any future reuse of personal data for these purposes must be based on an appropriate and lawful legal basis.

To this end, the Joint Controllers will continue, beyond the duration of the GRINS project, to manage the AMELIA platform and preserve the data stored within it, adopting the most appropriate security measures to ensure the platform's proper functioning and full usability.

Personal data, where possible devoid of identifying information about you, will be retained for 10 years following the conclusion of this project, after which they will be deleted or anonymized. It is emphasized that maintaining your identifiability is not among the purposes of the Joint Controllers. Therefore, following the upload of data to the AMELIA platform, it may no longer be technically possible to identify you, even for the purposes of Article 11 of the GDPR.

(C) STORAGE OF DATA FOR FUTURE INITIATIVES RELATED TO THE AMELIA PLATFORM

Considering that, in the future, new opportunities for enhancing the AMELIA platform, including commercial ones, may arise—allowing third parties to access and utilize its resources—it is possible to allow for extended storage of non-anonymous data for up to 15 years after the conclusion of this study. This would enable re-contacting you, if necessary, to request your expression of a new specific consent, should you choose to do so and if identified as a suitable legal basis.

In the absence of such consent, your data will be deleted or anonymized at the end of the retention period indicated in point (A2).

(D) STORAGE FOR ADMINISTRATIVE PURPOSES

Your data will also be processed for administrative accounting purposes and retained for the time strictly necessary to achieve these purposes, except for the ten-year period required to meet legal, tax, accounting, and administrative obligations.

LEGAL BASIS AND NATURE OF DATA PROVISION

Purpose (A1):

The legal basis lies in the necessity of performing a task in the public interest, pursuant to Article 6, paragraph 1, letter (e) of the GDPR. The research "Observatory on the Time Use of Young Families", as previously mentioned, is conducted within the context of the GRINS Project, which is funded by the National Recovery and Resilience Plan (NRRP, Mission 4, Component 2, Investment 1.3).

Purpose (A2):

The legal basis is consent, pursuant to Article 6, paragraph 1, letter (a) and Article 9, paragraph 2, letter (a) of the GDPR, as well as the Ethical Rules for Processing for Statistical or Scientific Research Purposes published by the Italian Data Protection Authority on December 19, 2018.

Providing your data is essential for participation in and the execution of the research activity. Therefore, refusal to provide your data will prevent you from participating in the research described above.

Purpose (B):

Since the purpose of enhancing the research results of the GRINS project is an explicit objective of the project funded by the NRRP, it is considered compatible with purpose (A2) pursuant to Articles 5, paragraph 1, letter (b), and 6, paragraph 4 of the GDPR.

Purpose (C):

The legal basis is consent, pursuant to Article 6, paragraph 1, letter (a) of the GDPR and, concerning special categories of data, pursuant to Article 9, paragraph 2, letter (a) of the GDPR.

Providing consent is necessary to retain your personal data for a period longer than that foreseen for the conclusion of this study, to enable future initiatives related to the AMELIA platform and, if necessary, to re-contact you to request your expression of a new specific consent regarding such future initiatives, should you choose to do so. Refusal to provide data for these purposes will result only in the inability to carry out the activities described above.

Purpose (D):

The legal basis lies in the necessity of fulfilling a legal obligation to which the data controllers are subject.

Providing your data is necessary to comply with legal obligations regarding the retention of administrative and accounting documents.

DATA PROCESSING METHODS

The data will be processed using electronic, digital, IT, telematic, and also analog tools, in full compliance with legal regulations, following principles of lawfulness and fairness, and in a manner that safeguards confidentiality. Personal data will not, in any case, be subject to automated decision-making processes.

RECIPIENTS OF PERSONAL DATA

The data may be shared with other entities, such as:

- Public Administrations and Authorities;
- A polling institute, specifically appointed for recruiting participants and collecting data through the creation, management, and maintenance of the web app used for administering the questionnaires. For these activities, it will be designated as a Data Processor pursuant to Article 28 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679;
- Other potential third parties appointed as Data Processors pursuant to Article 28 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679, in relation to the management of services or IT systems or for other consultancy services.

Personal data will not be transferred to a country outside the European Economic Area (i.e., the European Union, plus Norway, Liechtenstein, and Iceland).

RIGHTS OF THE DATA SUBJECT

Pursuant to Articles 7, 15–18, and 20–21 of the GDPR, the data subject has the right:

- To withdraw, at any time, any freely given consent, without any disadvantage or prejudice and without affecting the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal (right to withdraw consent).
- To obtain information regarding the purposes for which their personal data are processed, the duration of the processing, and the entities to whom the data are disclosed (right of access).
- To obtain the rectification or completion of inaccurate personal data concerning them (right to rectification).
- To request the deletion of personal data concerning them in the following cases: (a) the data are no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were collected; (b) they have withdrawn their consent for data processed based on their consent; (c) they have objected to the processing of their personal data where processed for our legitimate interest; or (d) the processing of their personal data is not compliant with the law. However, it is noted that the retention of personal data by the data controller is lawful if necessary to comply with a legal obligation or to establish, exercise, or defend a legal claim (right to erasure).
- To ensure that their personal data are only stored without further use in the following cases (right to restriction): (a) they contest the accuracy of the personal data, for the period necessary for us to verify the accuracy of such data; (b) the processing is unlawful, but they object to the deletion of personal data; (c) the personal data are needed to establish, exercise, or defend a legal claim; (d) they have objected to the processing, pending verification of whether our legitimate reasons for processing override those of the data subject; or (e) if there is a public interest.

- To request the cessation of processing where personal data are processed for our legitimate interest, and the existence of that interest is disputed (right to object).
- To receive, in a commonly used, machine-readable, and interoperable format, personal data concerning them processed by automated means, where such data are processed under a contract or based on consent (right to data portability).

You may exercise these rights by contacting the Joint Controllers at the contact details provided above.

Finally, if the data subject wishes to lodge a complaint regarding the manner in which their data are processed or the handling of a complaint, they have the right to file a claim directly with the supervisory authority (Italian Data Protection Authority – Garante per la Protezione dei Dati Personali: www.gpdp.it) or seek judicial remedies (Article 79 of the GDPR).
