- On June 2020, I defended my master's final qualifying work.
- And this is the end of my studies.
- After That, I graduated with a Master of International Relations from RUDN University.

Social Life and Activities

- When I had spare time from studying, I hung out with my friends and explored Moscow, the city we lived in.
- I also travel around Moscow city and Outside of Moscow
- Social Activities:

Outcomes

- ❖ I have not only acquired great knowledge provided by the University but also opportunities to learn about people who come from various countries and diverse cultures and to explore so many beautiful places across the country.
- ❖ Regarding my academic experience, I appreciated courses and classes being interactive, with opportunities to receive open lectures, and listening to highly renowned guest professors from different parts of Europe, Asia, and Africa on a weekly basis.
- ❖ Lastly, I can certainly say that this experience was an invaluable contribution to my self-development both in education and everyday life, and even more than that, it has given me things that cannot be bought with money like memories and experiences.

Challenges

Homesickness

Expensive

Culture Shock

Weather

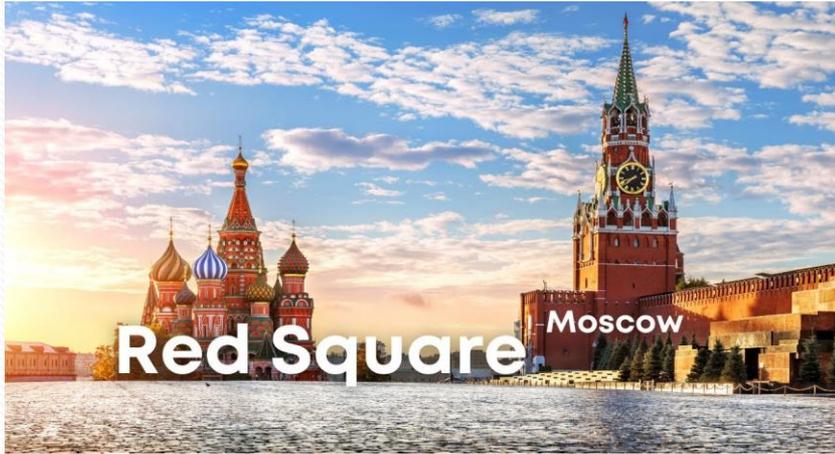

Language Barriers

- These are challenges that I faced when I reached Russia.
- The adjustment problem of studying in a new country with different cultures and ways of living is challenging for many students.
